STAMMERING CURD—DR. MOSES.—This scientific gentleman, who is now stopping at the Tarboro House, has effected several cures of Stammering in this city. His success is attested by many testimonials. We cheerfully recommend him.
RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 11, 1873.

This is to certify that I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Moses to all persons who are afflicted with Stammering. He has cured many of my friends and I would earnestly advise all persons so afflicted to give him a call and let him cure them.

MEETING OF SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.— Let it be remembered that at 9 o'clock a. m. to-day (Friday), the soldiers of the late C. S. A. and the sailors of the C. S. Navy will meet in the Senate Chamber for the purpose of organizing the Historical Society of North Carolina, auxiliary to the Southern Historical Society. Let the attendance be large.

OXFORD ITEMS.—Our Oxford correspondent, under date of yesterday, gives us the following items: After interviewing Dr. John R.
Hicks, Wm. M. Blackall, Esq., J.
B. Hogwood, Esq., and many other farmers from various portions of Greenville, we reiterate the statement made by us on a former occasion, that the crop of tobacco in Greenville is not up to the average standard in quality or quantity.

The Cantata by the ladies will take place at the Orphan Asylum on Wednesday and not on Tuesday of October Court as previously stated by one of your correspondents. The proceeds will be appropriated jointly for the benefit of the Episcopal Sabbath School and the Orphan Asylum.
Both objects are well worthy of encouragement.

TRODDEN DOWN; OR, UNDER TWO FLAGS.—The Watkins' produce such a number of dramas, and all of them good, it makes it difficult to discriminate between them. Still, if there is a choice, it is in the play announced for this evening, "Trodden Down; or, Under Two Flags," is pre-eminently superior to the majority of modern dramas, which as an acting play, it has no superior. The plot is deeply interesting, well devised and skillfully constructed. The dialogue is exceedingly well written, terse, vigorous, and to the point.
The hero, Fergus McCarthy, is a scientific conception, worth a dozen Rip Van Winkle's, and with the same opportunity would soon sprout that popular character in public estimation. Of this play, and Mr.
Watkins' rendition of the McCarthy, we cannot do better than to copy the following notice from a contemporary:
"We cannot call to mind so strongly marked a character as Fergus McCarthy. The situations are extraordinarily powerful, the language strong in its pathos and brilliantly witty in its comedy; does not elicit laughter or applause; and all these auxiliaries to a successful impersonation Mr. Watkins avails himself of to the fullest extent. Not a point is lost or turned over. Being the author of the play, he knows the full value of every line, and gets it, carrying his audience with him throughout, alternately moving the spectator from awe to gay, from smiles to tears, and this is a most difficult task; for the actor must be equally proficient in both tragedy and comedy, and these are attributes Mr. Watkins possesses to a remarkable degree, as evinced by his performance in "Under Two Flags." If ever the representation of any one part should establish an actor's fame, then Mr. Harry Watkins can safely claim his reputation on Fergus McCarthy.

THE STATE FAIR.

FOURTH DAY.

The Weather Continues Fine—Sple-did Exhibition—A Grand and Jam—Fully Fifteen Thousand People on the Grounds.

The prediction of old "Prob" yesterday was not fulfilled. No sombre clouds spread over the horizon. The skies were brilliant and cloudless—and the day one of Autumn's most beautiful. In the several hours

HUNDREDS OF ADDITIONAL articles had been entered since the close of Wednesday. Were special mention made of the numerous attractive and describing articles, the whole available space of the paper would be required. A full report of either of the halls would require a day of hard work. Floral Hall alone would absorb four columns, and then hardly have justice done. It What a wealth of curiosities is here!
So much is seen that after while the eye is surfeited with the beautiful and seeks some common every day object for relief. Here, too, an enterprising young man, who has a capital opportunity to learn something of the mysteries of the female toilet. By a little perseverance he can obtain quite a clear insight into hand, gusset, seam, edging, skirt, tatter and various kind of embroidery. Being debilitated from pursuing this fruitless subject, we change both the topic and locality, and, after much scrouging, elbowing and pushing, at times almost overwhelmed by the ferocious looks, darted from pretending to be looking black eyes, on account of some dress paying the inevitable penalty of length, we

LANDED IN MECHANIC'S HALL, and found a jam here, too. The crowd seemed to be a hungry one. Most everybody was eating, especially the females. Candy, pickles and apples appeared to be most in demand, and the scent of pearly little teeth as they gnawed and nibbled, and the under the delicate skin of the fruit, or sought to extract the sweets of a stick of candy by reducing it to a number of infinitesimal pieces, reminds one of a corn-sheller in full blast. There were a large number of ladies, and a pre-ponderant conversation of the fair over tremendous conversational topics, by eating in unison and with an unrestrained relish. It was a pleasant spectacle to see a six-foot stout tender

THE DAILY NEWS.

JORDAN STONE, Managing Editor.
SAM'L T. WILLIAMS, Political Editor.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1873.

Fair Week.

Our readers have manifested such a deep concern in the State Fair, that we propose to give full daily reports of the exhibition and its incidents in the RALEIGH NEWS. To do so, we will be compelled to encroach upon our editorial columns, and also to abridge our general news and State items. After the Fair is over, we will resume our usual variety.

HON. DANIEL W. VOORHEES, the silver-tongued orator from the Northwest, will entrance thousands to-day by his fervid and thrilling oratory.

THE Fair is everything that its most sanguine friends could desire—an immense crowd—a noble exhibition in every department—lovely weather—and a magnificent time generally.

ONE of the greatest attractions at the Fair is the wonderful variety of native apples exhibited by Capt. Natt Atkinson, of Asheville. The apples were grown in Buncombe and the adjoining counties. They cannot be excelled anywhere.

THE fall of the Rev. Dr. MUNSEY is one of the saddest on record. We are pleased to learn that the noble people of Baltimore have contributed a fund for his relief.

His friends attribute his extraordinary conduct to aberration of mind, superinduced by overtaxing his mental and physical powers, in his unremitting efforts in the pulpit.

THE Norfolk Virginian thinks that good will eventually come out of the recent money crisis. That paper says that rotten banks and dishonest individuals will be unmasked and that dishonest men will stand the test.

This may be so, but no good results have as yet been realized by the masses on account of the financial troubles. The benefits of the crisis are altogether in the future.

THE restoration of Vice President Wilson's health is announced by himself in a letter to a friend. A few weeks ago the papers stated that his disease was incurable, and that he would never be able to preside over the Senate. The Vice President's young divorced wife is again in society in Boston. It is rumored now that the Vice President himself will take another lost rib soon, in the person of a gay and fascinating widow.

ONE of the saddest pictures presented by our country is the condition of the helpless condition of the yellow fever victims to rob and plunder their houses. If there is a lower deep in the pit of perdition for the souls of the damned, surely these inhuman ghouls who are preying upon the misfortunes of the dying and robbing the bodies of the dead, will be made to feel the severest tortures of the wicked.

THE dispatches yesterday stated that the late developments in the BAZAINE trial were not favorable to the defendant. The charges which have been preferred against him, are very damaging and unless they are successfully controverted his doom will be sealed. We have before spoken of the character of the trial and of the witnesses—of the Court and of the counsel.

If BAZAINE is convicted there is scarcely a hope that he will be pardoned by the McMAHON Government. The execution of an officer of such a distinguished rank as Marshal, under the sentence of a Court, is something which has not been witnessed in this day and generation. We trust that BAZAINE will yet prove his innocence and vindicate his honor, but the prospect of his doing so seems gloomy enough.

THE country is growing impatient at the tardiness of the President in appointing a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States to succeed the Hon. Salmon P. Chase. For months past the public press have been discussing the qualifications of the several eminent lawyers whose names have been mentioned in connection with the exalted position.

The United States Supreme Court is now in session, but there is no Chief Justice to preside. Pending the vacancy, the oldest Associate Justice officiates.

In the meantime, the friends of several of the aspirants for the high honor are not idle, and permit no opportunity to pass without speaking a kind word in the President's ear in behalf of the claims of their respective favorites. Senator CONKLING is accused of intriguing skillfully to secure the coveted prize, and he is known to be a great favorite with GRANT. He is, however, too much of a partisan for a Chief Justice. We trust the President will bestow the appointment upon some one who is less ambitious, less unscrupulous and less demagogical.

There is no position in the gift of the nation of greater dignity and honor than that of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. The President has now an opportunity of winning the applause of the whole country by making a wise selection, and in making the choice he should regard fitness, character, integrity, learning and ability, and not party services.

A NEW EXPORT TRADE.—The French oyster beds having long been impoverished to the point of not being able to supply the constantly increasing demand, efforts have been made to introduce American oysters into the Paris markets, and the present year the traffic will be largely expanded. Two companies have been formed in New York for the exportation of oysters by wholesale to France and England, and they have already received from different French commission agents orders for several millions of bushels. Special vessels have been constructed for this purpose. But as the American oysters, once arrived, need to sojourn for some time in the parks, where they fatten and become eatable, it is at Courmeselles and at Croisic that they will go through this indispensable preparation. They are now establishing near these two ports large parks for this purpose.

The following item of information, from the Washington correspondence of the Boston Post, is published: "There is most excellent authority for announcing the engagement of Lieutenant Grant and Miss Kitty Cooke, daughter of H. D. Cooke, now in a state of suspense. The lady is originally that of a young lady in Chicago, to whom Lieutenant Grant confided the secret, and it has travelled to your correspondent through two or three sources. The confidante kept the secret until she found that several others had like been told the same in confidence, and now, it seems, considers herself released from her promise."

Charles W. Lovett, who has filled the office of deputy secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for the last fifty years, has just retired into private life. His term of service has extended through the administrations of Governors Endis, Lincoln, Davis, Everett, Morton, Briggs, Boutwell, Clifford, Washburn, Gardner, Banks, Andrew, Bullock, Claflin and Washburn. Truly a notable record of a public officer.

Captain Hall died in six different ways, according to "eye-witnesses."

The inventor of the "FRANKLIN STEAM WASHER" was owner of the right to manufacture the "Improved" woman's Friend in certain territory. While manufacturing these machines, and watching attentively their action and the manner in which they operated, and the results, he discovered certain prominent defects. He spent ten months in the study of the subject of finding remedies for these defects. He at-last succeeded, and as the result of his investigation and study, he offers to the public the "FRANKLIN STEAM WASHER," which is by far the best Washing Machine ever patented. We claim as an evidence of its merit that "LETTERS

A mother expectant was stricken down with the ill disease. She received the best of attention from her friends and had Dr. Blackburn as her attending physician. The fever was torrid, for her system. In the throes of delirium, a dead infant, only two weeks old short of its time, came into the world. It was as yellow as an orange from the disease of its mother. How the Old Horse Died.—Gen. Otto Frederick Marshall of the town of Wheeler, Steuben county, owned for twenty-two years a horse that died a short time since, apparently because he felt himself injured or slighted by his master. The horse was twenty-eight years old, and appeared as well as usual. Gen. Marshall had driven him to the post office, a distance of one mile and a half once a day during all that time. Every day, unless it was Sunday, the old horse made his regular pilgrimage driven by his owner to the post office. At length one evening a short time ago, the General thought he would drive another horse and leave the old horse at home. On the 10th, he found the regular pilgrim driven by his owner to the post office.
